PSY270 Spring 2017 Projects

Project Guidelines

- As you think about your project, choose one of these topic areas. You can propose another topic area, but you must meet with me to discuss it before the writing checkpoint is due.
- This study will be a replication study. I will help you with the materials, but you will be responsible for conducting the study and finding relevant research articles.
- You must have an EXPERIMENT.
  - This means that you, as a researcher, can control the independent variable.
  - You must have at least 2 groups (a control and an experimental condition).
  - You may have more conditions if you wish.
- You should have approximately 50 participants in your study.
  - Subjects will be recruited through the campus research pool, and potentially family/friends

Possible Topics

- Levels of Processing and Memory
- Goal Setting
- Expectation & Taste
- Ratings of performance by gender
- Stroop Effect
- Facial Feedback Hypothesis
