INFORMATION COMMONS
The Information Commons (IC) is the area of the first floor where you will find human and technology assistance to complete your assignments or projects. The IC Desk is the first desk as you enter the library and is the first place to stop and ask a question. If a question cannot be answered at the IC Desk, you will be referred to a person who can answer it. You should also stop at the IC Desk to see reserve items, get help with one of the many items available through e reserves, and to check out or return materials.

LIBRARIAN RESEARCH ASSISTANCE
Professional librarian research assistance is available at the Research Help Desk Sunday–Friday during the regular semesters. More in-depth research assistance is available by making an appointment with one of the librarians. E-mail Reference Assistance is available through our Libanswers Web page: http://ask.library.kutztown.edu/.
For more information, call 610-683-4165.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT
Ask our Tech Support team, located in the IC for easy access, for help with hardware or software. They can help you with passwords and printing, Microsoft Office and other IC software, and connecting to the network. Stop by the TS Desk for all the “tech” help you need for your projects.

ELECTRONIC DATABASES
The library subscribes to almost 100 electronic databases that provide access to a vast array of magazine, newspaper, and journal articles, many in full-text format. Articles and/or abstracts can be printed, saved, or e-mailed. Many full-text articles can be found in multidisciplinary databases such as Academic Search Complete (EBSCO), Research Library (Proquest), and Academic Universe (Lexis-Nexis). For more in-depth research, consult one of the subject-specific databases. For a complete list of databases, visit: http://www.kutztown.edu/library/er.

OFF–CAMPUS ACCESS
The library offers a wide variety of important resources and services for KU students, many of which can be accessed from off campus.
